FOREWORD

The INTERIM, 1966 yearbook of Whitman-Hanson Regional High School, shows not only the calendar events of the school year, 1965–1966, but also the daily life of the students. From a study of the student and his activities, an accurate history of the unique year should emerge. The reader should be able to look at this history in the future as a living record of the past. Above all, the theme of the high school years as the time between youth and responsible adulthood should universalize this history's general interest.

DEDICATION

MR. G.

For his untiring service to the school, the editors gratefully dedicate the INTERIM to Mr. Douglas Godfrey. It was Mr. G. who originally had the idea to present the successful Broadway musical, "Brigadoon." It was his drive for perfection and boundless energy which served as an example for everyone involved in the production. He has always encouraged his students to participate in S.E.M.S.B.A., District, All-State, and New England. At football games Mr. G. has served faithfully his two-fold position as avid rooter and band leader. The whole school appreciated the half-time shows of the band and majorettes: largely a result of Mr. G.'s painstaking work. Unselfish devotion to his school has won him the admiration and loyalty of the entire student body and faculty.

FACULTY and ADMINISTRATION SECTION

Among the adults who influence youth the most are their teachers. From teacher instruction in the classroom, the student gains academic knowledge. Working with teachers in activities of classes and clubs, he gains experience in organizing and in working with other people. The student learns how much work and worry goes into any success by watching his teachers planning dances and supervising 'Brigadoon.' At sporting events he finds the team's most enthusiastic supporters to be the faculty. After the hard work there is the Student-Faculty Basketball Game, in which students and faculty discard antagonisms simply to have a good time together. Whether he goes on to industry, college, the armed service or business, the student makes use of the skills and knowledge he has gained in this fruitful student-teacher relationship.

STUDENT LIFE

No matter how strenuous their schedule, students find time to contribute to, and in turn gain from, the varied aspects of student life. Rallies, enlivened by the antics of Senior girls, aroused the spirit and enthusiasm of the team and student body. Overwhelming pride in our great football team resulted in the Championship Dance, a night of recognition and merriment. Under the direction of Mr. Godfrey, the school achieved its most ambitious undertaking to date -- the production of the Broadway musical, "Brigadoon." The large corps of students who worked for its success were justified in taking pride and personal satisfaction in this outstanding presentation. Perhaps the best and most memorable of our high school experiences are these moments of productive fun.

Perhaps the best

The presentation of Lerner and Loewe's musical, "Brigadoon," represented many hours of work and effort by the students and teachers of our high school. A school-wide effort, the production employed sword dancers, dramatic actors, comedians, and prop movers, as well as vocalists. But admittedly the most memorable portions of the show were the songs of Sharon Murphy and Robert Anderson. The musical, a three-night performance, has set a new level of musical achievement within the school.

"Now right here we have ..."

of our high school experiences

Pandemonium is on the verge of breaking loose at the pre-Thanksgiving Day rally.

During the four years the class of '66 has attended W.H.R.H.S. there have been many exciting and hope-filled rallies. Yet the most promising and satisfying of all was the one preceeding the 1965 Thanksgiving Day football game against Abington. The hopes of everyone were at an all time high. Although the Old Colony League Championship was already secure, the football team was striving for the more important Eastern Conference Championship. Majorettes, cheerleaders and band were out in full force lending their support to the cheering student body. Under the direction of Miss Leahy and Mr. Godfrey, all three groups did an excellent job of inspiring the crowd. The coaches, co-captains and Mr. Teahan made speeches which recognized various outstanding players. John Benson was awarded the title of "Quarterback of the Year," by radio station WOKW. The acknowledgements were met with the unanimous approval of the crowd.

Victory Party

Last November members of the Senior Class asked local merchants to honor the championship Panthers. The students solicited both money and food from businessmen, who were eager to express their pride in the team. About five-hundred teen-agers took advantage of the open house held at the Whitman Town Hall and danced to the music of the Velairs. After the team's co-captains, Dennis O'Brien and John Benson, had congratulated the boys on their fine work, each player received a piece of a fancy football cake donated by the Sugar Scoop. Through everyone's generosity, the team and its supporters enjoyed an evening of fun -- the perfect end to a winning season.

of productive fun.

This year the varsity basketball team outplayed the highly favored faculty. The score, however, see-sawed from side to side as the boys met stiff competition on the court. Mr. Teahan is to be commended on his performance as an impartial (?) referee with only an occasional, but very discrete block against a student.

The action was rough from the very beginning as the teachers entered the game with confidence and swinging elbows. They fought long and hard and stooped to every dirty trick their twisted little minds could dream up. In the end, however, ability and training triumphed over cigaretts and deception and the boys won by a score of 62 to 57.

ACTIVITIES

The time spent in the classroom is only a part of the student's life within the school. After-school hours are often spent at one or more meetings of the various clubs. The PANTHERS' PRINT provides unlimited opportunities for students interested in journalism to express themselves in writing. Student Council, an active voice in our school's affairs, allows future citizens to gain valuable experience. The Bowling Club, and for the hardier students, the Ski Club, are organizations with the express purpose of fun and enjoyment. Wherever his interests lie, the student finds abundant opportunities to gain practical experience, to express his ideas, to explore his talents, and to enrich his mind, through participation in school activities.

Yearbook Staff

Each section of the staff worked hard this year to produce a different and better yearbook. First the activities and sports staffs selected pictures which best displayed school events, both athletic and extra-curricular. Then layout attempted to arrange these photos in some type of order, while the copy staff wrote and rewrote explanatory articles which later kept the typists busy. Meanwhile, the business staff was soliciting enough ads to sponsor the yearbook. Thus, due to everyone's efforts, INTERIM went to press.

F.T.A.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Millett, the Future Teachers of America has grown to a membership of fifty. The interesting programs, including some speeches by fellow members, encourage good monthly attendance. Among this year's activities were the annual Spaghetti Supper sponsored jointly with the F.N.C., an alumni party for students home from college during the Christmas vacation, and the furnishing of printed ribbons to Whitman-Hanson alumni now locally employed, as publicity for National Education Week.

The members of the Future Nurses Club, under the direction of Mrs. Foley, have participated in three major activities during the year. Sophomore Girls' Club

The Sophomore Girls' Club has several purposes. It allows Sophomores to hear speakers, including beauticians and airline stewardesses, and enables the girls to get better acquainted with each other. The most important purpose, however, is to encourage the girls to take an interest in their personal appearance and character. Other girls became especially aware of this facet of the club after it brought a fashion show, sponsored by Teen Haven, and modeled by Sophomores, to the WHRHS Auditorium.

Among the services performed by the library aides are mending books, arranging shelves, and checking books in and out. Most students take these services for granted and do not realize that confusion would reign if there were no library aides. They help make going to the library pleasant and academically rewarding.

Only determination and enthusiasm, not skill, are requirements to become a Ski Club member. A rising sport everywhere, skiing is very popular at Whitman-Hanson. This year the club planned four weekend excursions to the snow-covered slopes. The funds raised at cake sales, bottle drives, and dances have helped pay expenses for the trips.

Band and Chorus

Under the direction of hard-working Mr. Godfrey, lovingly nicknamed 'Mr. G.,' the band and chorus have performed at the Christmas Concert, the National Honor Society Induction, the Spring Concert, BRIGADOON, and Commencement Exercises. The band, accompanied by the majorettes, has provided half-time entertainment during the football season, while both have also represented W.H.R.H.S. in local parades. Outstanding members of the band and chorus have been honored by being selected to attend S.E.M.S.B.A., District All-State, and New England music festivals.

Cheerleaders

Whitman-Hanson Cheerleaders certainly deserve at least part of the credit for a successful football season. Both the student body and the team praise these girls for the spirit and enthusiasm they instilled in everyone.

Indispensible to the excitement and color of the football games is the halftime entertainment. The majorettes, in unison with the band, perform with precision and grace to complete the spectacle. SPORTS SECTION

It is not very often that a team is commended for sportsmanship, as was our Boys' Basketball Team in 1966. However, such an honor is not unusual. Where but in sports can the student learn about perseverance, fairness and courtesy, not just as ideas but as active things? For a while students and team members will recall the victories of the Championship Football and Girls' Basketball Teams. But long after the uniforms have been turned in and the scores have been forgotten, the players will continue practicing the ideals that are necessary not so much to win as to play the game in a good spirit.

But long after the uniforms

Varsity Football

1965 will remain as the acme in the lives of Whitman-Hanson football fans for many years to come. For the first time in its history, this school fielded a state championship football team. The Panthers put together a powerhouse offense and a stingy defense to sweep by eight Southeastern Conference foes unbeaten, untied, and little scored upon. In compiling this fine record, the champs took advantage of a firm belief in themselves to overshadow a deficiency of size and speed. Never once, in eight games, did they lose that faith which was called upon so often.

Faith, however, is derived from a knowledge of the game and its fundamentals; thus every football team is only as good as its coaches. Head Coach Teahan and Coaches Larson and Albrecht hold much of the responsibility for the Panthers' Class C Championship. They kept the team going through the heat of September and the biting cold of November and taught each member of the team the integral football skills. Furthermore, these gentlemen gave inspiration to the players when the going was rough and, along with Mr. Thompson, lightened the tension which always weighs heavy in a winning locker room.

Needless to say, there were many individual stars who sparkled and received their gridiron glory, yet it was the all-round team effort throughout the grueling three-month season which payed off on the scoreboard.

A 32 to 0 victory means hard, dirty work.

The Rockland offense fires out as the Panthers' defense holds.

Girls' Field Hockey Team

The 1965 Girls' Field Hockey Team showed real team effort and honest sportsmanship. Although many people including the officials complimented the girls on their marked improvement, they still lacked the polish of the older, more established teams of the league. Because the team is still young and there is still a lot of talent to be developed, Miss Holmes is looking forward to next year's season.

Since extensive training is needed to compete in the grueling twa and one-half mile race, each boy did his part in pushing the Whitman-Hanson Cross Country team ta a winning season. Coach William Clark was as pleased with the persanal drive and spartsmanship exhibited by each member of the team as he was with the team record which appears here.

Winter Track Team

This year the winter track team followed a different program. In the past, the teams competing held all af the running events autdoars on a quarter-mile track. For the 1965–1966 season, however, the league secured Cammonwealth Armory in Boston far use af their 176 yard indaar track. The prospect of running all nine af the track and field events inside attracted a sizeable number af athletes. The bays trained rigarausly, and althaugh a winning season eluded their efforts (won 2, lost 7), ane must remember that they were sometimes competing against large schools from Class A and B. Regardless af the record, Caach Kelley was very pleased with the high marale and competitive spirit af the entire team.

Varsity Basketball

This year's Varsity Basketball Team, under the guidance of Coach Hines and the leadership of co-captains Bruce Gorrill and Dennis O'Brien, exerted a fine effort in every game played. The "breaks," however, didn't seem to go their way, for though they fought back from large deficits time after time, they won only four games. Nevertheless, the team should be commended for its pains and for the fine victory salvaged in the closing moments of the final game against Silver Lake.

Junior Varsity and Freshman Basketball

The Junior Varsity and Freshman Basketball Teams, though maintaining disappointing records, took a step toward future success this year. They played a series of post-season games to give the younger players much-needed practice.

In regular league action the teams won several games apiece, playing schedules nearly identical to those of the varsity team. Occasionally members of the varsity played alongside the junior varsity to introduce the team to a higher level of basketball playing. With this additional game experience, the future seems bright for coming varsity teams.

Girls' Basketball

The Girls' Basketball Team had another winning season this year. Retaining their title as Old Colony League Champs by winning twelve games and losing only two, the girls were eligible for the Southeastern Massachusetts Invitational Basketball Tourney, in which they placed second in Class A. The J.V. Team also had a winning season with twelve wins and two losses.

Boys' and Girls' Tennis

The 1965 Girls' and Boys' Tennis Teams had disappointing seasons. The Girls' Tennis Team was unable to win any of its games while the boys were able to win only two. After each team had worked and trained regularly, several outstanding players resulted. Overall, the skill of both teams was an improvement over that of previous ones.

Spring Track

The 1965 Spring Track Team had a disappointing season. Although the boys trained conscientiously, a series of bad breaks and injuries plagued them and dissolved all hopes for a winning season. The team, however, worked harder than ever with a never failing spirit. Coach Kelley complimented the boys on their perserverance.

Girls' Softball

The girls' 1965 softball team had an undefeated season this year. These Old Colony League Champs won ten league games and one scrimmage, batting in a total of 214 runs against their opponents' 44 runs. All games, except one, were easy wins for the champs. The closest game resulted in Whitman-Hanson's girls defeating Plymouth-Carver's girls by a score of 15 to 13. The team, consisting of mostly underclassmen, did a fine job as Coach Miss Pratt is sure they will do in 1966

Varsity Baseball

Due to long hours of practicing and a fine coaching staff, the 1965 Varsity Baseball team was able to capture both the Old Colony League and the Eastern Massachusetts titles. Sporting an impressive season record, the boys enjoyed enthusiastic student support during the final games. Awards were presented to all team members for their outstanding performance.

Junior Varsity Baseball

The new coach of the Junior Varsity Baseball Team is Mr. Thomas Fox, who spent many long hours drilling the J.V.'s to prepare them for the varsity team. Several boys got some first-hand experience by occasionally playing in a varsity game. Not only was the team record the best in years (won 6; lost 7; tied 1), but also, the personal drive and sportsmanship exhibited by the boys made them a credit to the school.

O'B beats the throw to second.

UNDERCLASS SECTION

The greatest development of a student at Whitman-Hanson takes place during his years as an underclassman. As a freshman, he spends the first few months adjusting to high school and getting to know his classmates through participation in activities such as the Freshman Mixer. As a sophomore, he can participate in varsity sports. In his junior year the student becomes more involved in his class activities, especially the Junior Prom. Besides developing personally, underclassmen, comprising the largest segment of the student body, contribute most to school organizations. For the student at Whitman-Hanson, being a part of the school begins the moment he enters the front door and continues through his four high school years.

SENIOR SECTION

Even during the last step of their high school years, the members of the Class of '66 continued their efforts in extra-curricular activities. While the Senior girls organized the football rallies, many of the boys were training to win the league and state championships. John Benson became "Back of the Year." To honor the Panthers, Seniors planned the championship dance held at Whitman Town Hall. Long rehearsals resulted in the comical Senior play, "Boys and Ghouls Together." Seniors displayed their acting ability in the annual one-act plays and "Brigadoon," a Broadway musical. Throughout his four years in W-H, one class member, Emmanuel Horowitz, has won many top prizes in science fairs including two firsts in the State Fair. The senior year, the most frantically busy, and yet most warmly rewarding, of our high school years, will linger in our memories for years to come.

JUNIOR PROM

THE LOVELIEST NIGHT OF THE YEAR was certainly a fitting title for the Junior Prom on May 14, 1965. Sidewalk cafes, an enormous riverboat, and "A Streetcar Named Desire" skillfully disguised the gym as a New Orleans scene. During the grand march led by class officers and their dates, the band selected the queen, Miss Cynthia Clifford. Crowned on the gold streetcar throne by Class President John Snow, she was surrounded by her court, Kathy Plausse, Cindy Jefferson, Karen Kelley, Shirley Spinola, Pamela Smith, and Ellen White. Each of the girls then danced with her escort and completed the loveliest night of the year.

CONCLUSION

The INTERIM, 1966 yearbook of Whitman-Hanson Regional High School, shows not only the calendar events of the school year, 1965–1966, but also the daily life of the students. From a study of the student and his activities, an accurate history of the unique year should emerge. The reader should be able to look at this history in the future as a living record of the past. Above all, the theme of the high school years as the time between youth and responsible adulthood should universalize this history's general interest.
